CALLING ALL PACIFIC MIDWIVES!

Brian Spurrett Fellowship

RANZCOG is offering the Brian Spurrett Fellowship to a Pacific midwife to attend the Pacific Society for Reproductive Health 2026 Biennial Conference from 14-18 September in Tonga.

The Brian Spurrett Fellowship covers return economy air travel, accommodation, registration (conference, workshop, dinner), and living allowance.

The Brian Spurrett Fellowship is available via online application only. Pacific midwives are invited to apply. Applicants must:

- Be registered and clinically active
- Working and residing in a Pacific Island country
- Be a current member of the Pacific Society for Reproductive Health (PSRH)
- Hold a current passport at the time of application that has 6 months' validity from the likely date of departure from the conference location at the conclusion of the PSRH Conference

A RANZCOG panel will adjudicate applications. Notification about the application outcome will be sent when adjudication is complete. Please apply using the online form

The application form includes 3 questions to each describe in 300 words or less:

- your clinical setting or practice (such as key health issues, communities served, urban/rural location, professional roles etc).
- why you are applying for the Brian Spurrett Fellowship.
- how attending the PSRH 2026 Biennial Conference will benefit you and the community in which you work.

Congratulations!

Thank you to everyone who applied for the PSRH & St. Vincent Scholarship to attend the PSRH Conference in Tonga 14-18 September. The high caliber of applications made the selection process incredibly difficult. We are pleased to congratulate the following PSRH Scholarship recipients:

Frank Apamumu & Relmah Harrington.

*This scholarship would not have been possible without the financial support from St Vincent's Pacific Health Fund.

Thank you!

PEMNeT Rarotonga 20–24 April 2026

Pacific Emergency Maternal and Neonatal Training (PEMNeT) has officially landed in the Cook Islands. The PSRH PEMNeT team, led by Dr Amanda Noovao-Hill (Head of Secretariat & VP Medical) and Dr Sharron Bolitho (Programme Director), recently delivered training in Rarotonga. Faculty included Dr Lana Hughes and Midwifery Educators Litiana Tatukivei, Noémi Gulliver, and Salote Tubakibau.

PEMNeT brings the whole health team together to strengthen both clinical and teamwork skills required to manage maternal and newborn emergencies effectively.

Participant feedback highlighted the value of the programme:

"In order to have a safe delivery we need good teamwork, and to enable good teamwork we need good communication."

"What I've liked from this training is the demonstration roleplays and practicing everything hands-on."

"The axillary traction technique made it easy to remember how to manage shoulder dystocia."

"Even as a senior midwife, this was a good upskilling—especially recognising what junior team members can offer."

Participants consistently noted the relevance of the topics, the effectiveness of PEMNeT's practical, adult-learning approach, and the strong emphasis on teamwork and communication. The interactive format supported engagement throughout, with high levels of participation across all sessions.

The impact of the training was strengthened by the inclusion of Pa Enuā (Outer Island) participants from Atiu, Mauke, Mitiaro, Aitutaki, and Mangaia, and by running two consecutive courses to support staff release from Rarotonga Hospital.
